

Call for applicants for Perth Biodesign!

About the course

We are seeking the next generation of biomedical entrepreneurs to join us on a journey of innovation in the 2018 Perth Biodesign course (run previously as SPARK Co-Lab Design). Based on Biodesign at Stanford University, Perth Biodesign brings together people with a passion for design thinking and discovery in medicine. Participants will form multidisciplinary teams, and over a 6 month period, innovate and create their own novel solutions for unmet medical needs.

The course is suited to clinicians, scientists, engineers and business professionals, from student, early career through to professional level.

Find out more information and submit an expression of interest by going to www.biodesignaustralia.com or contacting perth@biodesignaustralia.com

Important Dates

Applications Close: 8th April

Course Begins: 11th June

Course Finishes: 5th November

